

LEADENHALL STREET

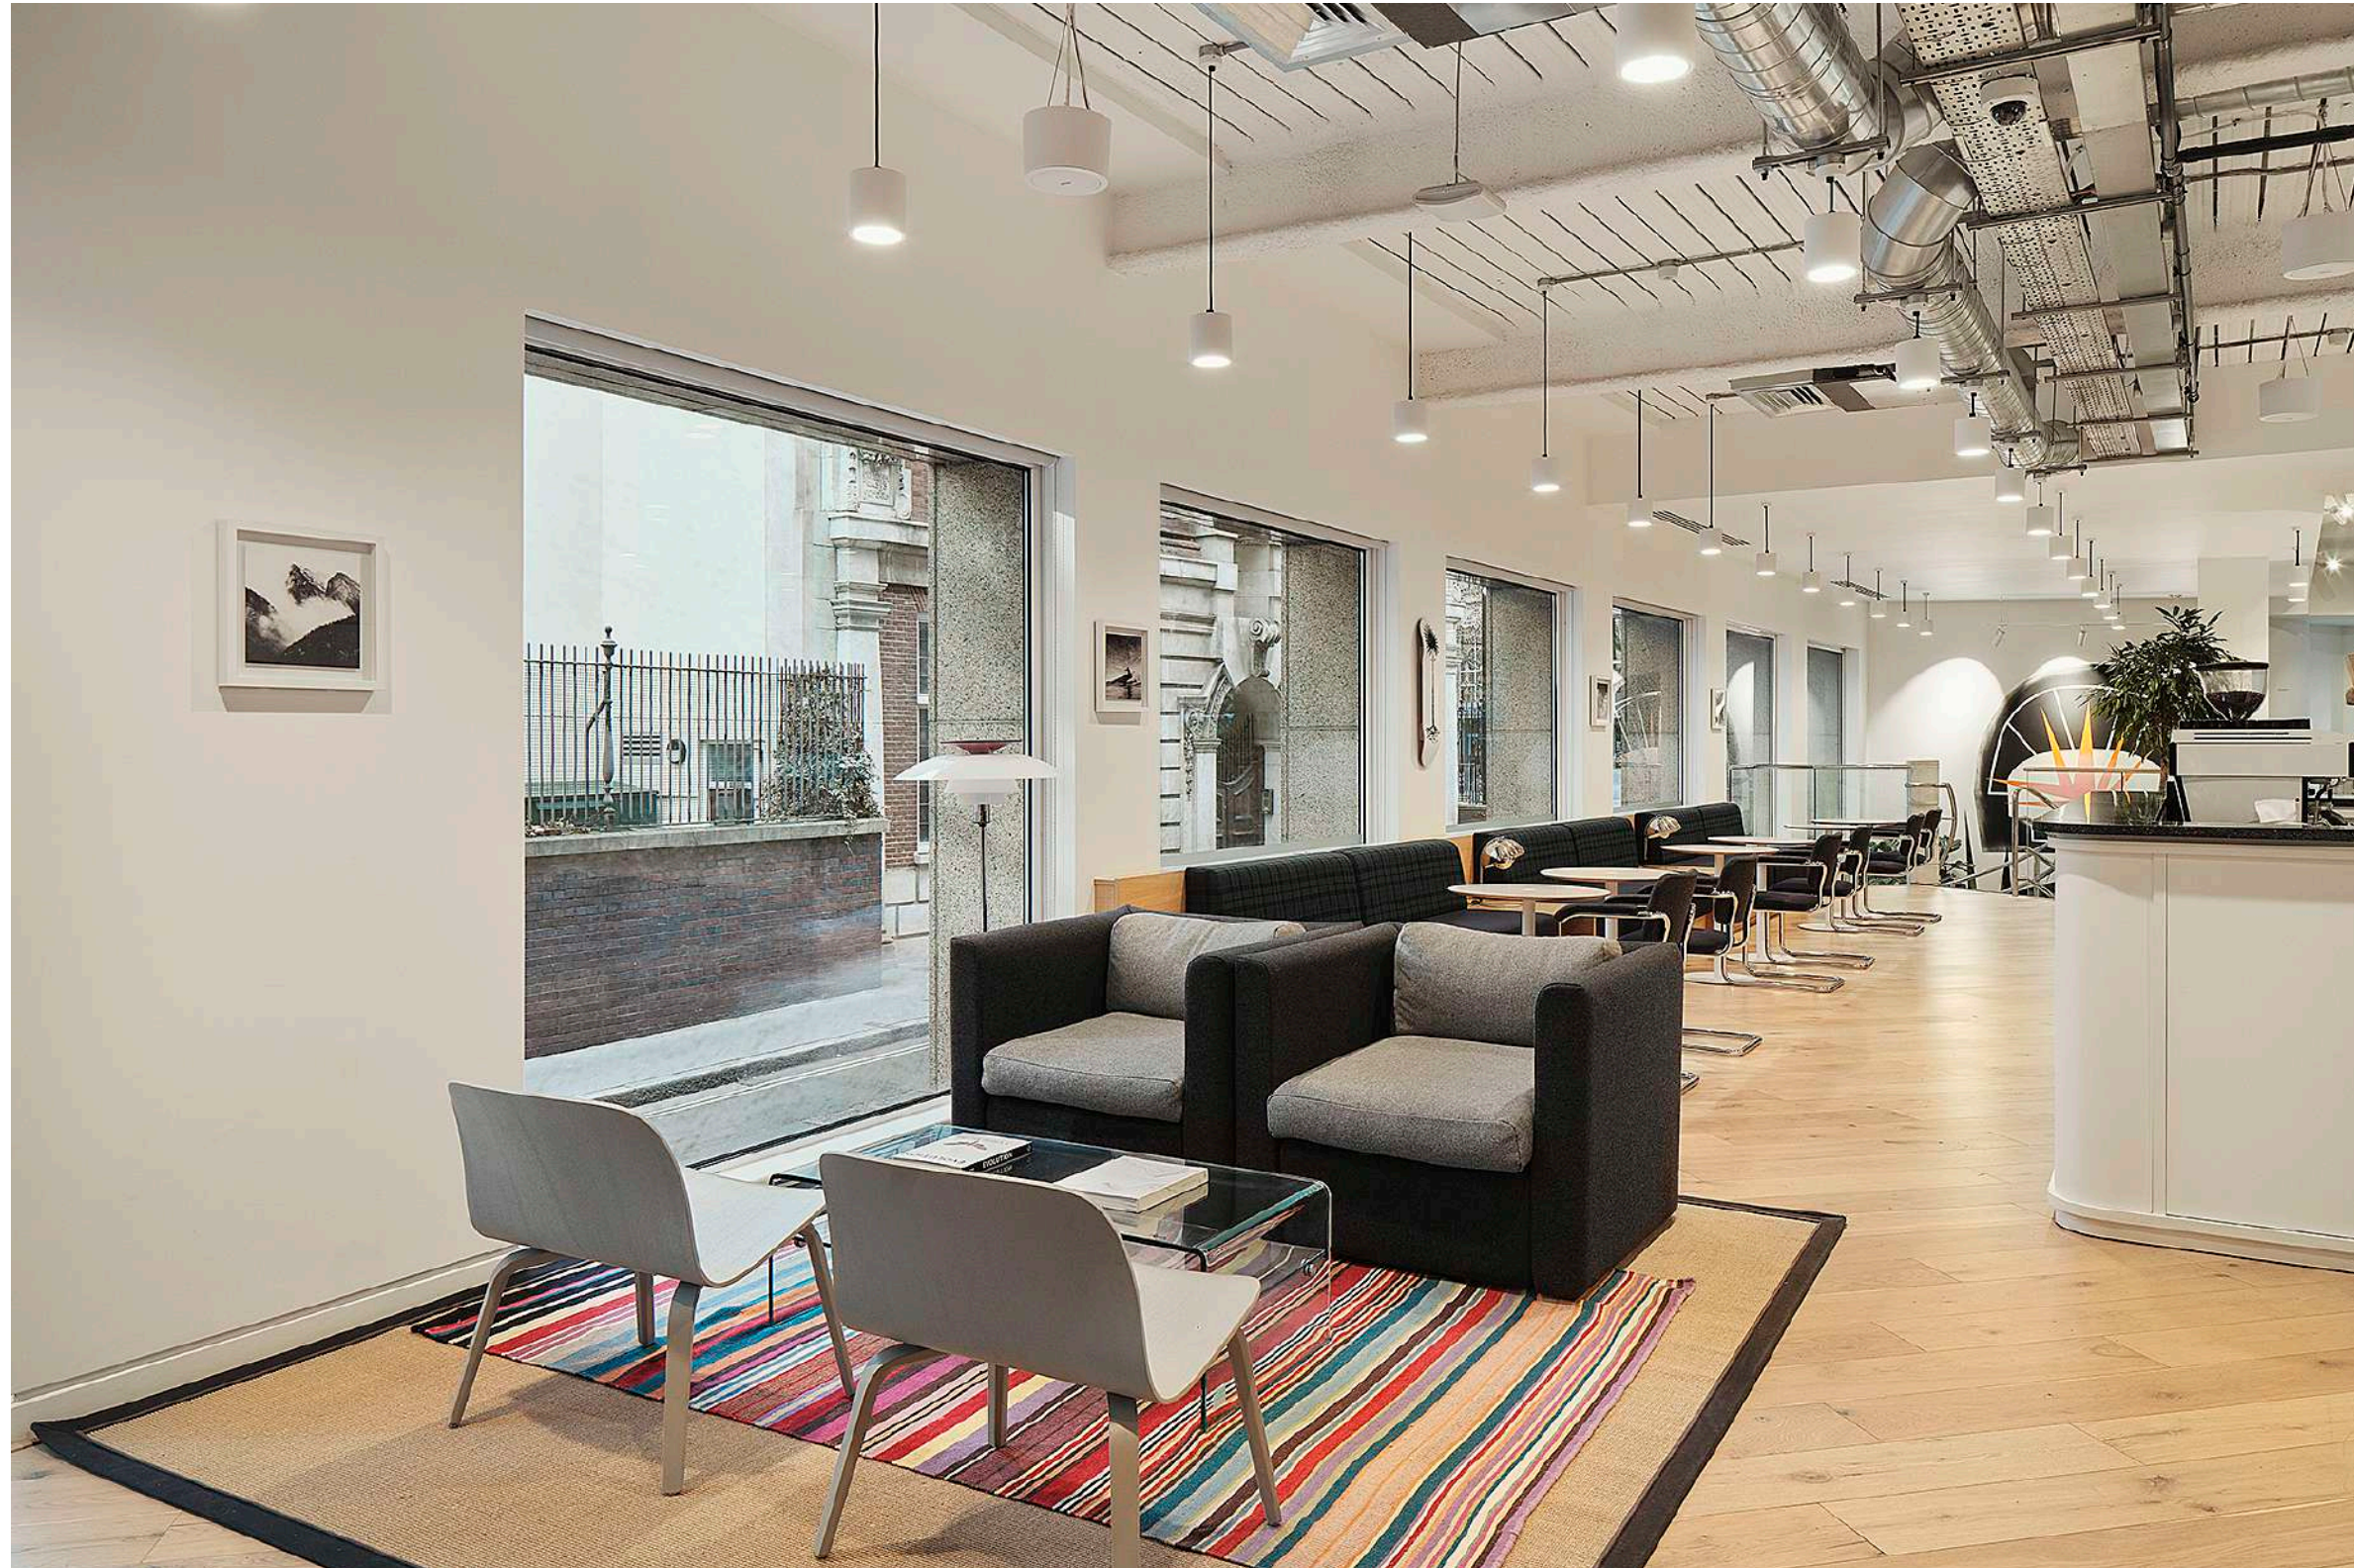

Leadenhall Street

Bringing together a historic fragment from a sixteenth-century chapel with a bright and modern interior, Leadenhall Street is a unique event space in Central London. Equipped for a range of events, it offers convenience and charm for up to 80 people.

About Leadenhall Street

Set over two levels, Leadenhall Street is a purpose-built space designed for entertaining and collaborative working.

A chrome spiral staircase connects an upper mezzanine level with a larger open-plan space below. The venue can accommodate up to 80 guests, with a fully equipped barista station, pantry, flexible seating areas and games tables.

The site was once part of the Holy Trinity Priory, Aldgate, which was dissolved in 1532. A surviving wall from the medieval church is the heart of the modern building, visible from both floors.

The historic character of the City of London's first Monastery sits carefully conserved within the bright and modern space. Mixing old with new, the building celebrates the changing history of the city.

Its exceptional facilities, flexible layout and central location make Leadenhall Street an ideal venue for workshops, networking events, away days and brand events.

In partnership with WeWork, Spaces & Stories provides exclusive access to some of the city's best buildings, activating them as exceptional event venues for the first time.

A bright and flexible venue in the City of London

Spaces The Mezzanine

Guests enter The Mezzanine next to the beautifully restored sixteenth-century stone arch. The upper level is a bright, modern open-plan space, with large windows looking onto the historic streets of the City. A modern snack station and barista bar can be activated during daytime events or transformed into a bar area in the evening.

Spaces The Arc

Accessed via a spiral staircase, The Arc is flexible for all event types and configurations, including theatre style. It is thoughtfully designed as an open-plan space with a kitchenette, soft furnishings and a games area, which combined provide the ideal location for networking, group work and breakouts.
